Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time
July 31st 2022
Ecc1 1: 2; 2: 2-23 / Ps 90: 3-6, 12-14, 17 / Lk 12: 13-21

Dear people, it is easy to understand the Gospel today. But it is not so easy to practice what Jesus says. Nevertheless, it is good for us to hear his words.

Throughout his life, Jesus lived as a poor man. He also frequently taught the people the value of poverty. In his very first sermon, he pinpointed the aim of his life: "The spirit of the Lord has been given to me, for he has anointed me. He has sent me to bring the good news to the poor" (Lk. 4:18). Later, in the Sermon on the Mount, he said, "Blessed are the poor, theirs is the kingdom of heaven" (Mt. 5:3). Even later, he told the people to set their hearts first on the kingdom of God and on doing right; then all that was necessary would be provided for them by God. (Mt. 6:33) He wanted people to have a close relationship with God, but he knew that a preoccupation with material things would prevent this from ever taking place. We see this clearly when he became angry with those who sold things within the Temple grounds. They only thought about material profits, completely forgetting about God.

Most of us are not rich in the sense of having a great deal of money. But we are rich in other ways: God has given each of us certain talents; we also have ample time at our disposal, and so on. We wonder, how did Jesus use his talents and his time? He traveled up and down the country, healing people, preaching in synagogues, and teaching. He was very busy, and yet he always managed to find time for others and for God.

Here is a little story I would like to share with you.

In the last century, a tourist from America paid a visit to a renowned Polish rabbi, Hofetz Chaim. He was astonished to see that the rabbi's home was only a simple room filled with books, plus a table and a bench. "Rabbi," asked the tourist, "where is your furniture?" "Where is yours?" asked the rabbi in return. "Mine?" said the puzzled American. "But I'm only a visitor here. I'm only passing through." "So am I," said the rabbi.

Jesus relates to the crowd what God said to the man who piled up wealth for himself: "You fool! . . . To whom will all this piled-up wealth of yours go?" Yes, Jesus is right. The wealth we acquire now will have no value after we pass away. The only thing that will matter will be the wealth we have accumulated in our heart. The only thing that will matter will be whether or not we have grown rich in the sight of God.

Parishioner Registration Forms

Registering as an Official Parishioner of Emmanuel is very important to us and you! Attending Mass on a regular basis does not technically mean you are registered. You must fill out a form, which will be entered into our records. Please pick up a form at the back of the church and return it to the parish office. You may also call the office to verify if you are already registered or not. Thank you!

Prayer Before Communion

O Lord, I believe and profess that you are truly Christ, Son of the living God, who came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am the first. Accept me this day as a partaker of your mystical supper O Son of God. May the partaking of your holy mysteries, O Lord, be not for judgement or condemnation, but for the healing of body and soul. I also believe and profess that this, which I am about to receive, is truly your most precious Body & Blood, which, I pray, make me worthy to receive for the remission of all my sins and life everlasting. Amen.

Prayer For The Pavilion Project

Loving Father, creator of all things, we come to you asking your blessing on the construction of our pavilion. We pray for all involved in this project from donors to those who will bring it to completion. We dedicate this endeavor through the intercession of St. Joseph the worker. We ask this through Christ our Lord.
Amen

Protection Against Hurricanes

God our Father, Creator of the Universe and Lord over all creation, we humbly stand before you as your children in thanksgiving for your loving care and protection. We ask that you keep us safe from all hurricanes and illnesses which may threaten us in the coming seasons. Protect us from all fear and anxiety and give us an ardent trust and hope in Your love and mercy. You alone bring peace, calm, and safety. Father, we thank you in advance, for you are our only refuge. We ask this through Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, God forever and ever.

Amen.

Mary Queen of the Apostles, and Patroness of our Diocese, Pray for us.

Prayer for Vocations

Lord Jesus, as You once called the first disciples to make them fishers of men, let your sweet invitation continue to resound: Come follow Me! Give young men and women the grace of responding quickly to your voice. Support our bishops, priests and consecrated people in their apostolic labor.

Grant perseverance to our seminarians and to all those who are carrying out the ideal of a life totally consecrated to your service.

Awaken in our community a missionary eagerness. Lord, send your workers to your harvest and do not allow humanity to be lost for the lack of pastors, missionaries and people dedicated to the cause of the Gospel.

Mary, Mother of the Church, the model of every vocation, help us to say "yes" to the Lord who calls us to cooperate in the divine plan of salvation.

Amen.

Message From Msgr. Badia's Family

Dear members of Monsignor Badia's Emmanuel family,

We were touched by the love that you have all shown, not only for our uncle but also for us, as we came to mourn his loss. Thank you for embracing him and bringing him into your community.

Uncle Len loved to say Mass – not only for the obvious spiritual reasons, but also for the direct connection it gave him to you. He was a gifted speaker and doing so gave him great joy. He believed that the Word should make sense to everyone, and he put it in a way that would allow us to apply it to our personal lives. This was evidence of his deep love of teaching. It is easy to picture him as an apostle going from place to place to attract, enlighten and spread the Word. He was a natural story-teller – and he reveled in sharing personal stories and insights not only in Church but whenever he was with a group of people or acquaintances. He always tried to add some humor – we will miss his hearty laugh!

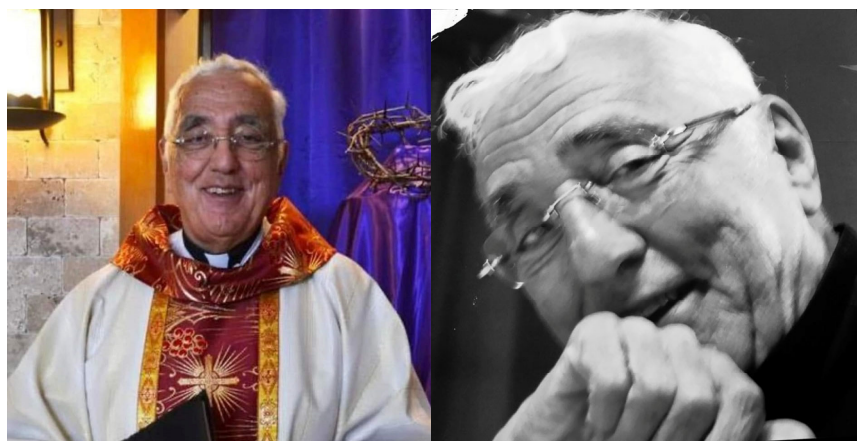

In addition to his love of teaching, he had a profound love of learning. He not only looked to traditional means of acquiring information, but also learned from the life lessons of those with whom he came in contact. He was a lifelong Yankees fan (as you well know!), and he loved going to the casino. He was, after all, a man who loved family, friends, good food, and fun.

So many of you reached out to us, sharing your stories and your sadness – we thank you for your kind words and support. You were truly his family too.

Know that our hearts, like yours, are full of grief. May your positive memories of him give you solace and ease the pain. We know that he will forever be in your hearts.

We wish you peace and love,

Madeline Turan, Christine Bianco, Leonard Badia, and our families

Saint Alphonsus Liguori's Story

Moral theology, Vatican II said, should be more thoroughly nourished by Scripture, and show the nobility of the Christian vocation of the faithful and their obligation to bring forth fruit in charity for the life of the world. Alphonsus, declared patron of moral theologians by Pius XII in 1950, would rejoice in that statement.

In his day, Alphonsus fought for the liberation of moral theology from the rigidity of Jansenism. His moral theology, which went through 60 editions in the century following him, concentrated on the practical and concrete problems of pastors and confessors. If a certain legalism and minimalism crept into moral theology, it should not be attributed to this model of moderation and gentleness.

At the University of Naples, Alphonsus received a doctorate in both canon and civil law by acclamation, at the age of 16, but he soon gave up the practice of law for apostolic activity. He was ordained a priest, and concentrated his pastoral efforts on popular parish missions, hearing confessions, and forming Christian groups.

He founded the Redemptorist congregation in 1732. It was an association of priests and brothers living a common life, dedicated to the imitation of Christ, and working mainly in popular missions for peasants in rural areas. Almost as an omen of what was to come later, he found himself deserted after a while by all his original companions except one lay brother. But the congregation managed to survive and was formally approved 17 years later, though its troubles were not over.

Alphonsus' great pastoral reforms were in the pulpit and confessional—replacing the pompous oratory of the time with simplicity, and the rigorism of Jansenism with kindness. His great fame as a writer has somewhat eclipsed the fact that for 26 years he traveled up and down the Kingdom of Naples preaching popular missions.

He was made bishop at age 66 after trying to reject the honor, and at once instituted a thorough reform of his diocese.

His greatest sorrow came toward the end of his life. The Redemptorists, precariously continuing after the suppression of the Jesuits in 1773, had difficulty in getting their Rule approved by the Kingdom of Naples. Alphonsus acceded to the condition that they possess no property in common, but with the connivance of a high Redemptorist official, a royal official changed the Rule substantially. Alphonsus, old, crippled and with very bad sight, signed the document, unaware that he had been betrayed. The Redemptorists in the Papal States then put themselves under the pope, who withdrew those in Naples from the jurisdiction of Alphonsus. It was only after his death that the branches were united.

At 71, Alphonsus was afflicted with rheumatic pains which left incurable bending of his neck. Until it was straightened a little, the pressure of his chin caused a raw wound on his chest. He suffered a final 18 months of “dark night” scruples, fears, temptations against every article of faith and every virtue, interspersed with intervals of light and relief, when ecstasies were frequent.

Alphonsus is best known for his moral theology, but he also wrote well in the field of spiritual and dogmatic theology. His Glories of Mary is one of the great works on that subject, and his book Visits to the Blessed Sacrament went through 40 editions in his lifetime, greatly influencing the practice of this devotion in the Church.

Reflection

Saint Alphonsus was known above all as a practical man who dealt in the concrete rather than the abstract. His life is indeed a practical model for the everyday Christian who has difficulty recognizing the dignity of Christian life amid the swirl of problems, pain, misunderstanding and failure. Alphonsus suffered all these things. He is a saint because he was able to maintain an intimate sense of the presence of the suffering Christ through it all.
