The reading from the Book of Exodus tells us that the Lord God provided for his people water in the desert that satisfied their thirst and strengthened them in their journey. This foreshadowed the kind of water that Jesus will give to all who believes in him, "living water" that would bring eternal life as told in the Gospel. St. Paul, in the second reading, affirms that Jesus' death and resurrection made us righteous before our God.

Jesus' conversation with the Samaritan woman takes place on the theme of "living water". This water is indispensable for life. It is not surprising that, in the regions of the Middle East where drought is very common, water is simply the symbol of life and, generally, the salvation of the human person.

This life and this salvation can be received only by opening up to the gift of God. In the Psalms, the Psalmist professes that "as the deer longs for running streams, so my soul longs for you, God". The salvation that God brings is expressed in the image of the spring that wells up below the entrance of the Temple and becomes a great river that turns the desert of Judea into a garden and turns the Dead Sea into a sea full of life (cf. Ezek. 47:1 -12).

Jesus is getting thirsty and asks her for a drink. He could work another miracle, but he seems never to have worked a miracle to satisfy himself. How surprised the woman must have been when he spoke to her. In that culture men did not talk to women in public, and if a man did, it had better be his wife or his relative; also, Jews and Samaritans did not get along with each other; they were hostile at times. But Jesus broke through both boundaries of gender and race and asked for a drink of water.

It is interesting to see how her faith grew moving from her seeing Jesus as a man who was thirsty to be an apostle to her neighbors in the village. She was willing to be open to what she could understand, and her openness led her to share with the people of her village what she had found. St. John's gospel paints a vivid picture of a person coming to faith and how Jesus leads them to holiness.

For me, the moral of the story is that Jesus will draw anyone who is willing to be open with him, anyone who makes time to converse with him, he will draw that person into a deeper and deeper relationship with himself. We cannot move ahead in our spiritual journey without spending time with him. Once we have known his love, we must share it with others who might be open to it. Amen.

Consecration to a life of virginity in the world

On Wednesday, March 25th at 5:00pm on the solemnity of the Annunciation of the Lord. Simi Sahu our parish bookkeeper will be consecrated to a life of virginity in the world by Bishop M. Barbarito, concelebrated by 20 priests inside and outside the diocese. Please join us in the first consecration in the life of our parish and our diocese

Catechism of the Catholic Church (p. 922-924)

From apostolic times Christian virgins, called by the Lord to cling only to him with greater freedom of heart, body, and spirit, have decided with the Church's approval to live in a state of virginity for the sake of the Kingdom of heaven. Virgins who, committed to the holy plan of following Christ more closely, are consecrated to God by the diocesan bishop according to the approved liturgical rite, are betrothed mystically to Christ, the Son of God, and are dedicated to the service of the Church. By this solemn rite (Consecratio virginum), the virgin is constituted... a sacred person, a transcendent sign of the Church's love for Christ, and an eschatological image of this heavenly Bride of Christ and of the life to come. As with other forms of consecrated life, the order of virgins establishes the woman living in the world (or the nun) in prayer, penance, service of her brethren, and apostolic activity, according to the state of life and spiritual gifts given to her. Consecrated virgins can form themselves into associations to observe their commitment more faithfully.

The Luke Live! Mission comprises Fr. DiLuzio preaching (and presiding or co-presiding) at all weekend/Sunday Liturgies followed by 3 mornings and evenings beginning Monday at 9am and 7pm. The Sunday homily will include the theme of "Ways We Interact & Relate to the Bible" using the Sunday readings as examples. The goal of Luke Live! is to strengthen the participants' involvement with scripture, foster evangelization, faith sharing, and ecumenical dialogue.

Father James DiLuzio is a Paulist priest www.paulist.org and a missionary to the United States, traveling to parishes throughout the USA since 2002, offering his dramatic proclamation of the Gospel of Luke entitled Luke Live! in four distinct missions (www.LukeLive.com). He also offers parish retreats and lectures on Resurrection Faith, Saint Paul the Apostle, Making Holy Choices and Making Holidays Holy (preparing for Thanksgiving, Advent and Christmas). For parishes in the NYC tristate area he is also available to lead an Evening of Christmas Carol Sing-A-Longs with stories on "How the carols came to be written."

Before his ordination in 1993, Fr. DiLuzio earned a B.A in English and Education from Montclair State University, New Jersey, an M.A. in Drama from the University of Southern California, followed by several years working as a teacher, actor and director. As a Paulist, he completed a Masters of Divinity at Catholic University, Washington DC. Fr. DiLuzio's ministries contribute to the Paulist Fathers' objective to "Give the Word a Voice in the 21st century" - i.e., sharing the Gospel in new, fresh and engaging ways and fostering the dialogue of faith with American culture. Prior to his full-time Mission work, Fr. James served as Associate Pastor at Saint Paul the Apostle Church in Los Angeles and as a Campus Minister at St. Lawrence Parish and Newman Center, Minneapolis, MN. Most recently he has offered retreats to Sisters of Mercy of the Americas Mid-Atlantic Community, the Deacons of Erie PA Diocese and the La Salette Fathers Community.

DIOCESE OF PALM BEACH CONTINUES TO MONITOR DEVELOPMENTS RELATED TO CORONAVIRUS

Please take precautionary measures to prevent the spread of respiratory infection. The CDC suggests such actions as avoid close contact with people who are sick; avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth; stay home when you are sick; cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash; clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe; and wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds.

Precautions that parishes that can employ, at the pastor's discretion, include the temporary suspension of 1) the minor chalices used for the distribution of the Precious Blood, 2) the communal Sign of Peace (kissing or shaking of hands) and, 3) the greeting before Mass. Parishes may also empty the holy water fonts at the church doors and can encourage the use of anti-bacterial soap by the Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion before and after distribution of the host. Also, parishioners may choose not to hold hands during the recitation/chanting of the Our Father. It is still left to the discretion of the communicant how they wish to receive the Host. As the distribution of Holy Communion involves contact with both the mouth and hands, any Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion who feels uncomfortable distributing Communion should be allowed to temporarily step down from ministry.

It is important to remember, if you are sick, you are encouraged to stay home. A Diocese of Palm Beach Televised Catholic Mass ministry is available for the community if you are not able to attend Mass. The Televised Catholic Mass can be found on CW34 at 10:30 a.m. every Sunday, on www.DiocesePB.org or on Facebook at @DiocesePB.

In addition, the Diocese of Palm Beach Office of Catholic Schools continues to monitor developments related to coronavirus and as always, upholds the safety of the Diocese of Palm Beach faculty, staff, students and families as a top priority. Updates regarding how coronavirus could impact the schools of the Diocese of Palm Beach can be found on www.DiocesePBSchools.org or on the Office of Catholic School's Facebook, Instagram and Twitter accounts @DoPBCatholicSchools.

The Diocese of Palm Beach will continue to address concerns related to coronavirus, including promoting awareness and initiating additional responses if necessary. Updates regarding how the COVID-19 could affect parishes and schools in the diocese can be found at www.DiocesePB.org and on the diocese's Facebook page @DiocesePB. Please also join us in praying for all those who are affected by this outbreak.
